May. May! The laughing May is here May! The darling of the year

May! The merry-hearted maiden With bright wreaths of wild flowers

Dancing light with flowering tresses, Scarce her foot the green sod presses Ere, their heads the violets lift, While the wild-plum's snowy drift Piled along the lanes green edges

Perfumes all the banks and bedges, And from every bush and tree Wild birds earol joyously.

Hark! The wandering breeze is bringing ounds of happy children's singing. Everything is glad and gay: 'Tis the merry month of May.
